Beware of the Limited Policy

Many of the non-standard insurance companies in Texas have begun selling what is known as a "limited policy".

With a limited auto insurance policy, any of the following may apply:

- -No coverage for anyone not specifically listed on the policy
- -A shorter than normal grace period to add any new vehicle purchases to your policy.
- -Decreased liability limits for anyone other than the "named insured" on the policy

Here at Texas State Low Cost, we have elected to continue to provide the type of coverage our clients have come to expect from us. In order to provide the protection our clients need, we do not sell a "limited policy".

Sizable number of Texas drivers without insurance

AUSTIN — A large number of drivers on Texas highways and roads do not have auto insurance, according to a Texas insurance organization.

A 60-day pilot project testing the new TexasSure program, which allows law enforcement personnel via computer to verify coverage status when they stop a motorist, focused on Travis County. During the test which is expected to end soon, Texas Department of Public Safety troopers stopped and ticketed uninsured drivers.

So far, 25.5 percent of 5,012 drivers stopped in Travis County and small portions of nearby Williamson and Hays counties since June 2, did not have auto insurance.

"The numbers show that Texas has an even larger number of uninsured drivers than we had realized," said Mark Hanna, spokesman for the Insurance Council of Texas, in a story Tuesday in the online editions of the Houston Chronicle and the San Antonio Express-News. The Council has been monitoring the state's new auto insurance verification program.

"Troopers tell us that some areas of the state may have more than half of their drivers uninsured, and that's scary news for everyone else on our roadways," Hanna said. This spring, the minimum amount of liability insurance Texas drivers are required to have, increased for the first time in 22 years. Hanna said he didn't think the higher requirement was a factor in the lack of coverage because the effect on premiums was "minimal."

Protecting Your Vehicle During a Hurricane

Hurricane season is upon us — drenching coastal areas from early June until November's end — and, as always, preparation is key to surviving the storms and keeping your belongings safe. Since automobiles are often the largest investment an individual makes, it's important to make sure that they'll be safe should the time come for you to evacuate your home.

1. Use a waterproof/padded tarp on the vehicle to protect against saturated drywall and debris falling onto the vehicle.
2. Remove heavy objects from shelves and items such as bikes hanging from the ceiling. Place tools and large objects on the floor.
3. Shore up the garage door (the largest opening to the house) using special products, lumber, and/or hardware.
4. Secure any openings to the attic from the garage with latches or lumber.
5. Use plywood to protect garage windows. Window films provide some protection against shattering, but 1/2-inch or 3/4-inch thick plywood is a better option. Hurricane shutters are preferable to sunshades on windows.
6. Keep automobile titles and other documents sealed in plastic bags in a safe or a large, heavy container that won't get lost.
